Dear Method Families:

We certainly hope that during this spring break, you've come to appreciate some simple walks outside and family time. In keeping with state guidance, Method Schools will continue to support our students and families virtually when we return from Spring Break for the remainder of the school year.

While students were preparing for Spring Break, Method Schools held its Spring Data Review. The entire Method Schools organization convened (virtually, of course) for some fun team building, important data analysis, and realigned our focus on Method's growth and student achievement. Coming out of this meeting, Method hopes to increase our support and build our already strong Method community. Returning from Spring Break, please look out for more communication from Method Schools and your homeroom teachers regarding:

- Virtual Teach Squad
- Virtual Parent Workshops
- Increased Virtual Study Halls
- Weekly updates of student and teacher highlights and upcoming virtual events and opportunities

We are still committed to supporting your student and are grateful for your support. We're also very grateful to be in a position to serve our students with little academic interruption, which is critical now more than ever. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact us.
